Winner – General Corporate, South Africa

Michael Judin obtained his law degree from the University of the Witwatersrand and commenced practice in Johannesburg in 1969. He is the senior partner of Goldman Judin Inc. As a premier boutique law firm, it represents a wide range of South African and international interests in areas including commerce, antitrust, marketing, industry, labour and finance. It is uniquely well situated as a result of its associations with various international law firms and tax consultants, and has a clear understanding of evolving business and legal environments, both local and international.

Mr Judin has delivered lectures and addresses on various topics, nationally and internationally.

Mr Judin was a member of the main committee which wrote King III, South Africa's new corporate governance report and code. He was also the convenor of the sub-committee which wrote the chapter of King III dealing with negotiation, mediation and arbitration.

Mr Judin is a director of, and legal adviser to, the American Chamber of Commerce in South Africa. In November 2006 he was inducted as an honorary life member in recognition of his exemplary leadership and dedicated service.

What clients said

“Michael is not only an expert in the legal field, but also an astute businessman. He manages to strike the right balance, being willing to make himself available to share his knowledge and expertise freely, particularly in the field of corporate governance.”

“What stands out is his incredible sense of urgency and immediate attention to our issues. He is only a phone call away, even after hours, and always provides us with an assurance of help, no matter what our concerns are.”

“He embraces every matter with exuberance and a passion not often displayed by other members of his profession. This energy is evident when dealing with his colleagues and, through them, his leadership skills are apparent.”

“If you need a ‘one-stop shop’ in South Africa, Michael Judin is your man: highly dedicated and responsive, extremely well connected and trustworthy.”
