

World Summit on Arts and Culture comes to South Africa

South Africa was the proud host of the 4th World Summit on Arts & Culture in September 2009, and Ifa Lethu showed off its wide range of heritage works, fashion items, and the latest work by some of its recently trained creative entrepreneurs.

Exhibiting their work to the 500 global delegates, it can clearly be seen that Ifa Lethu graduates are not only proud of their work but confident they stand tall besides world-class artists. The World Summit is held every three years in a different country and this was the first time it had been held on African soil. It gave local arts and culture practitioners an opportunity to mingle with visitors from across all the continents.
